Equi-Consultancy is the result of decades of experience, hard work but also struggles. We strongly believe that the power in perfect horsemanship is the match between horse and rider. The perfect horse doesn't exist, it's down to finding the right combination. After finding your match your next goal will probably be finding the adequate training and training environment.

We are highly convinced of having found the right combination of knowledge, people and materials to help you achieve your goals.

Contact us with your questions, we will be happy to find you the right equine solution.
